

KADER STAFF STORIES

Ahmad S. Ahmad is a 23 years old man living with his 8 family members.

They are from a small village in the Hama countryside. Ahmed said, “My family was working in agriculture and construction, and when I was 12 years old my father passed away, so I had to stop my studies and start working as a construction worker with my brothers to support the family. It was a simple job but we were happy.

Then the war started and our village was right in the middle of the fighting fronts. The regime started to recruit young men to join the army, and I was one of them.

Due to the fightings, my family had to flee and took refuge in the camps in Bab al Hawa on the Turkish border.

Not convinced by the justification and the reasons of fighting, I escaped from the army and rejoined my family. In the camps. I met KADER staff assisting people and I informed them that I was looking for a job. Currently I am working in the food distribution team.”
